REMARKS.

In Submitting this, our Sixth Annual Report, we can add but little to what has heretofore been reported of our now excellent schools. What was at first looked upon as an experiment, especially in the grading system, has become of such practical value, that no one desires to return to the old system; and we can feel that the new method, so well inaugurated here, is by far the best, and gives us the privileges in our town of which we are so justly proud.

The past year has been a most successful one in the work throughout all our schools. The class which graduated in June from the High School, proved how valuable their course of study had been to them, and all who were present at the graduating exercises were loud in their praise of both teacher and scholars, who together had brought so successful a graduation. The following were the members of the class, every one of whom did excellent work, and who have started upon a higher course of study, and other business of life, with the brightest prospects: Thomas H. Gifford, Mildred G. Vinning, Clara B. Peabody, Josephine I. Buck, Devona G. Philbrook and Bertha Stahl. The coming year a still larger class will go out from this school work here and the exercises, which are already being arranged for this graduation, will be looked forward to by all our people, and especially by the parents and immediate friends of each member, as the most interesting event of the year.

Financially we are in good condition. Our debt has been reduced to the small sum of $800.00 and we earnestly hope that sufficient money may be raised at our annual meeting this year to pay it all, thus avoiding all interest expense, and saving for school purposes every cent that is possible. We need very much a few weeks more of school work. One week was added to last year which was a great help, and we hope to be able the coming year to add, at least, one week to each term, making then eleven weeks each, which we think can be done with the same appropriation as voted us last year. In all our selections of teachers we have been wonderfully successful, and our plan of procuring them from the Normal school, especially in the graded schools, has been of the greatest value. The Normal School at Plymouth, is a State Institution and is supported for the benefit of all our educational interests. Its principal object and use is to fit teachers for their work, and what is more fitting than that it should furnish us teachers and be held in some measure, at least, responsible for them. Dr. Rounds, the principal, understands his work and knows a good teacher, and we have been, and still are, under great obligations to him for those sent to us. Miss Connor, whom we had all, both parents and scholars, learned to esteem very highly, we could not keep, because they required her in the Normal School, into which she has been promoted, but her place has been filled by Dr. Rounds' recommendation, and we feel that Miss Wilder will be equally successful in the Grammar School. We notice with great pleasure the increasing interest which all our people are taking in the school work. Many have visited the schools during the year, and in no instance have we heard a word except in praise. We trust this interest will increase; that the parents, especially, will watch their children, both in and out of school, with more determination to aid in their advancement, and do all in their power to assist the school board and the teachers in the good work which engages their attention. The school meetings should be well attended also, and in this the mothers and sisters have not only a voice, but a vote. A good number were present at the last annual meeting, and we hope to see many more at the next. They are nearer to the scholars in the home, than are the fathers and brother, whose business calls their attention more outside, and they can better watch the progress and results of their children's school life. If they are interested, and exhibit it by attending the school meetings and visiting the schools, it will prove a wonderful incentive to the boys and girls, who so eagerly watch the examples which are set for them to follow.

Let us all be teachers, by precept and example, and keep our schools, the garden of our beautiful village, free from everything which will choke or corrupt the educational growth of our loved ones, so that in the harvest there shall be nothing gathered which shall not ripen into truth and honor and heaven.
